Caribbean Escape New Orleans to Boston

15 Days including French Quarter Festival in New Orleans

April 9-23, 2010

Combine the excitement of New Orleans' French Quarter and the exhilaration of freestyle cruising on this amazing 15-day journey from New Orleans to Boston. Our two-night stay in New Orleans will coincide with the annual French Quarter Festival which features live music at several different venues. Our hotel is perfectly situated in the French Quarter within easy walking distance to Café du Monde, the French Market, Bourbon Street, the Riverwalk and Harrah's Casino. A guided tour of New Orleans will show us the city's recovery efforts in the aftermath of Katrina, and the resiliency of one of America's most treasured destinations. The fabulous Norwegian Spirit will be our floating resort for the next 12 days as we cruise the Caribbean and Bermuda en route to Boston. The Spirit is an exciting ship with vibrant colors, exceptional public areas and well-appointed cabins. Spirit features Freestyle Dining with eight restaurants including two main restaurants, three alternative restaurants and the 24-hour Blue Lagoon. It has an impressive array of entertainment venues including a 1,000-seat theater and cinema. The ship also features a sports deck and a Roman Spa & Fitness Center.

After a relaxing day cruising the Mississippi River into the Gulf of Mexico, we spend two days at Mexican ports – first in Costa Maya with its pristine white sand beaches, followed by a day in Santo Tomas de Castilla where we can explore Mayan ruins. From there we head southward to the Netherlands Antilles, spending a full day in the island paradise of Aruba and another full day at its sister island of Curacao. After two glorious sea days in the Caribbean, we call on Hamilton, Bermuda, a romantic destination rich in British custom and island heritage. After one more day at sea we arrive in Boston for our transfer home.
